

VERX ACO

COMPANY PROFILE

Capability Statement

Applied computing for practical organisational outcomes.

Practical technology. Stronger operations.

Verx ACO is a Botswana-based applied computing company. We help organisations select, implement and operate technology that improves everyday work, customer experience and decision-making.

Our focus is not technology for its own sake. It is technology that works in the operation, is understood by the people using it and can be sustained after launch.

What we do

- Digital platforms and business systems - websites, portals, workflow tools and tailored operational platforms.
- Cloud, hosting and email - practical online infrastructure for organisations that need reliable digital foundations.
- Automation and integration - reducing repetitive work and connecting information across teams and systems.
- Technology advisory and transformation support - clarifying priorities, readiness, scope and implementation pathways.
- Managed implementation and ongoing support - helping teams move from a decision to a working, maintainable capability.

How we engage

We begin with the business problem, the operating environment and the outcome that matters. From there, we define a sensible scope, identify dependencies and risks, and establish a delivery path with clear ownership.

Where Verx ACO adds value

For growing organisations

A clear route from fragmented tools and manual processes to a coherent digital foundation, without forcing unnecessary complexity.

For established teams

Targeted improvement where systems, information flow or service delivery are slowing the organisation down.

For programme and project leaders

Structured discovery, implementation discipline and a practical bridge between business needs and technical delivery.

Typical outcomes

- A clearer technology roadmap and more confident investment decisions.
- Reduced manual administration and fewer operational hand-offs.
- Better visibility of work, customers, cases, tasks or service performance.
- A credible web, hosting and communications foundation.
- Solutions that can be supported, improved and governed over time.

Talk to Verx ACO about the outcome you need, the constraints you are working with and the next decision you need to make.

Web: verxaco.com | Email: hello@verxaco.com